

PAID ADVERTISEMENT

Birth Control is Good for Business: ESSENTIAL FOR A HEALTHY WORKFORCE, ECONOMIC GROWTH, RACE AND GENDER EQUITY.

Access to birth control – the ability to plan if and when to have a child – is key to a thriving and sustainable workforce. As the nation grapples to address systemic inequities and revitalize the economy, reproductive health care – including birth control – remains essential for employee retention, diversity and inclusion, and the financial stability of all people. But right now, with a Supreme Court decision on employer coverage pending, affordable birth control access is at risk.

As Businesses for Birth Control, we pledge to make smart investments in our number one asset: the people who drive our success. We support birth control access because it leads to more prosperous and inclusive economies, race and gender equity, and stronger families and communities.

JOIN US.

Pledge to protect access to affordable birth control and policies that support reproductive health care. The health of our people and businesses depend on it. BusinessForBirthControl.org

BUSINESSES FOR BIRTH CONTROL:

Amalgamated Bank, Argent, Bad Robot Productions, CREDO Mobile, Female Quotient, Jaya Apparel, hims & hers, Postmates, The Helm, The Lede Company, Trillium Asset Management and Tumblr.

This ad is paid for by Planned Parenthood.